NORTHERN REGION MARKET REPORT -

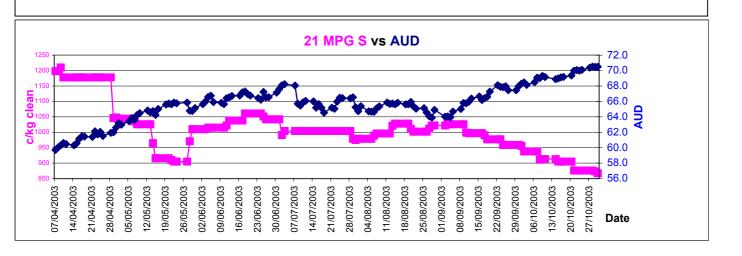

Auction sales were held in Sydney, Melbourne and Fremantle again this week, with 61,000 bales on offer. Sydney sales on Tuesday opened slightly dearer, with broader merino types most affected. With a firming dollar on Tuesday night, prices softened on Wednesday with fine wools falling 5-10c/kg clean. Thursday the market drifted marginally, 19-25 micron closing 5 c/kg cheaper. Finer crossbeds (26-27mic) saw increased demand from China this week, whilst broader crossbred prices continued to fall. Skirtings were generally unchanged; longer, low VM types firmer, higher VM types slightly cheaper. Cardings prices rose by up to 4% this week with demand seen for all locks, crutchings and lambs.

Quality is a key consideration in the market at present. Although on average prices were quoted unchanged, clearly this week's market movement saw sound (+38NKT) and better style wools dearer whilst part tenders and tenders cheaper.

Although closing generally unchanged on last week's levels, uncertainty due to a lack of demand prevails. With limited volumes on offer, prices are tending to drift and will continue to do so whilst the Aussie dollar firms and demand remains thin. The US decision to keep interest rates level will likely foster more demand in Australian currency and consequently continue to push the Aussie dollar higher.

News from China indicates limited raw wool stocks held however a willingness to continue to by on a hand-to-mouth basis or "as-needs". Further down the chain, stocks of apparel are still abundant and moving only slowly into the US market.

Forward markets were quiet for the week, with growers still not considering these levels as hedging opportunities.. Comments: Evonne Luton (Wooltrade)
